By Chas

M1624
.M45B9
1835

№37 of the Euterpeiad. copy right secured

By the margin of fair Zurich's waters

— arranged for the —

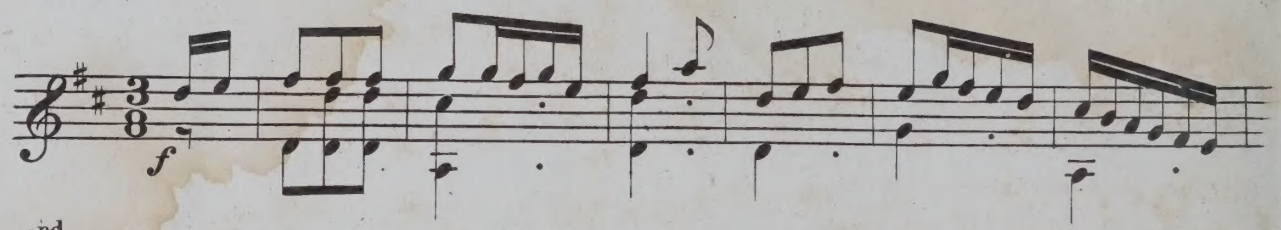
GUITAR

by

LEOPOLD MEIGNEN

Philad.a Pub.d by FIOT, MEIGNEN & CO. Market St.

Allegretto.



2nd VERSE. By the margin of fair Zurich's wa_ters, a_____i, At

1st VERSE. By the margin of fair Zu_rich's wa_ters, a_____i, Dwelt a close of a sweet sum_mer day, To the fairest of fair Zu__rich's youth whose fond heart night and day, For the fairest of fair Zu_rich's daughters, a_____i, This fond youth found at last tongue to say: I'm in daughters, a_____i, In a dream of love melted a_way, If a

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS-URBANA
3 0112 129014558

love as thou surely must see, Could I love a_ _ny other but _lone no one bolder than he, But with her none more timid could thee; Oh! say then wilt thou be my bride, a_ _ _ _ _ _i; Can you be; Oh! list to me fair one I pray, a_ _ _ _ _ i; When she

pp

tell how the fair one re_ _ _plied, a_ _ _ _ _ _ _ _i, a_ _ _

did so he on_ly could say: a_ _ _ _ _ _ _ _i, a_ _ _ _ _ _i, I leave you to guess, a_ _ _ _ _ _i, a_ _ _ _ _ _ _i, Of _ _ _ i, A_ _ _lack well_a_ _ _day, a_ _ _ _ _ _i, a_ _ _ _ _ _ _i, Was course she said yes!

all he could say.

f